We, the Junior Class, respectfully dedicate this book to our good friend,
James S. Lakin.

JAMES S. LAKIN

James S. Lakin

JAMES S. LAKIN, the eldest son of Rev. Calvin H. and Catherine Finney Lakin, was born at Moundsville, W. Va., on March 1, 1864. He is descended from Abraham Lakin (born in 1713 and died in 1796) who received from King George of England title deeds for a tract of land, in Frederick County, Maryland, which passed from father to son through many generations, and is still in the Lakin name, being now the homestead of William Gerry Lakin.

His great-great grandfather (a son of Abraham) was Benjamin Lakin—born in 1738, married in 1760 to Rebecca Fee, and died in 1776. His great grandfather, Thomas, an itinerant Methodist preacher, was born in Montgomery County, Maryland, in 1763, married to Priscilla Sullivan in 1782, settled later in Bedford County, Pennsylvania, and died near Freeport (Harrison County) Ohio in 1834. His grandfather William, was born at Cumberland, Maryland, in 1791, and died near Freeport, Ohio, in 1855. His father, Rev. Calvin H. Lakin, was born near Freeport on June 29, 1838, married Catherine Finney (of Tuscarawas County, Ohio) on March 26, 1863, and retired after a half century of active service as a minister in the West Virginia and Iowa conferences of the Methodist Episcopal church, including service as presiding elder of the Oakland and Huntington districts, and now resides in Huntington, W. Va.

It was in many ways of great advantage to James S. that he was the son (the eldest son) of a West Virginia itinerant minister. From the strenuous life of the father with the meager support afforded by many of the churches he served, the son learned the habits of industry, thrift and economy which are of inestimable value. He obtained his education in the common schools of West Virginia, in the Fairmont State Normal School and in the Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio. At Ohio Wesleyan, he met a young lady student, Lura Oliva Lakin (daughter of George W. Lakin of Columbus, Ohio) who became his wife on November 14, 1889, and who he later discovered was a distant relative. To them three children have been born—James Offutt, Marion Elizabeth, and Florence Catherine.

In September 1889, Mr. Lakin became the partner of D. E. Offutt of Oakland, Md. in a mercantile business carried on at Terra Alta, W. Va., under the firm name of Offutt and Lakin. He had full charge of the business until 1909, when he gave up his work to enter upon his duties as member of the State Board of Control, and was succeeded by his brother Finney L. Lakin as manager. The business was successful from the beginning and is now conducted in a substantial three story brick building. From a strictly mercantile business at the beginning, the firm soon branched out into business in coal, timber, and other lines, and now owns large acreages of timber land in West Virginia, Virginia and Arkansas. In connection with his business success Mr. Lakin naturally became interested in banking. He was elected President of the First National Bank of Terra Alta and also became one of the Directors of the Terra Alta Bank.

He has always shown a lively interest in political and public affairs and was for a number of years a member of the Republican executive committee of Preston County. In 1900 he was appointed by Gov. A. B. White to act as director of the West Virginia Asylum at Huntington, and in 1904 was re-appointed by Gov. W. M. O. Dawson. In 1905 he was the Republican candidate for Congress in the Second Congressional District of West Virginia to succeed Hon. A. G. Dayton, who had been appointed to a federal judgeship. In this campaign he was defeated by a small majority by Colonel Thomas B. Davis of Keyser, W. Va., a brother of Hon. Henry G. Davis.

In 1909, he was appointed by Gov. W. E. Glasscock to serve as one of the three members of the newly-created State Board of Control to have charge of the business and financial side of all state institutions. His associates were John A. Sheppard, a prominent attorney, now of Huntington, W. Va., and Thomas E. Hodges, now President of the University. By them he was elected President of the Board; in this position he has shown remarkable ability as an organizer and his service has been continuous excepting a brief leave of absence during the political campaign of 1912 during which he served as chairman of the Republican state executive committee.

In 1913 Governor H. D. Hatfield appointed him a member of the new Public Service Commission of which he was elected Chairman. Subsequently it was held that he was ineligible to this position because of a provision in the law governing the State Board of Control. He was thereupon restored by the Governor to membership upon the State Board of Control and re-elected President.

Mr. Lakin is a 32nd degree Mason, Knight Templar, and Shriner, and also holds membership in the Knights of Pythias. He is a hard worker and an apostle of the strenuous life and a believer in all things that count for the public good.

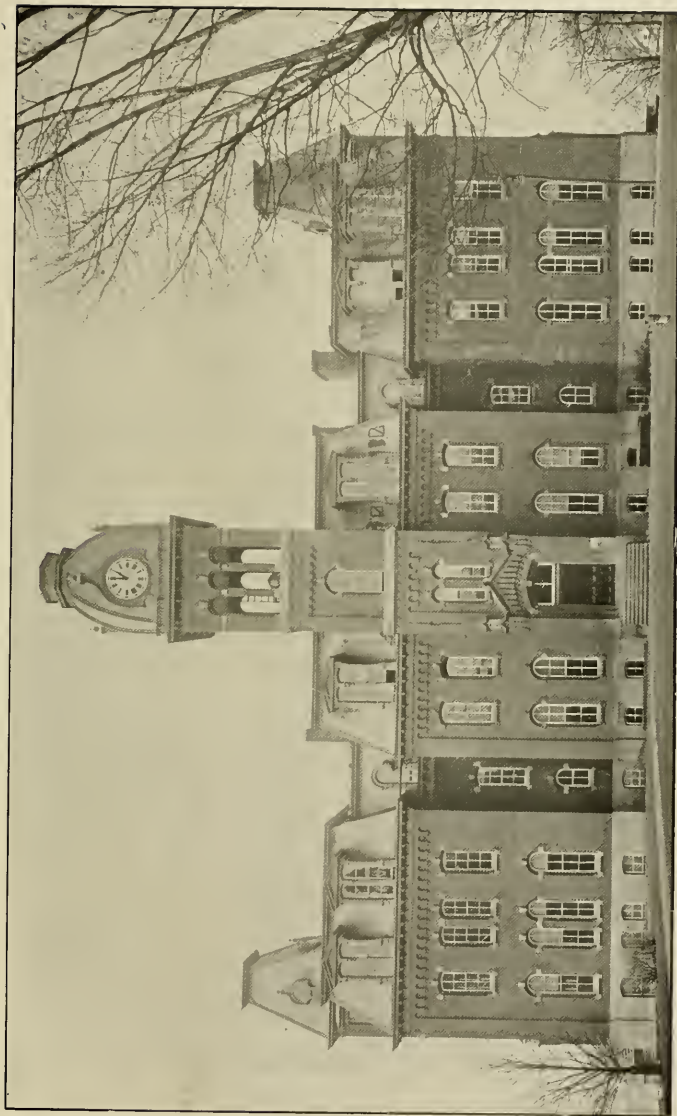

The class of 1915 is proud to dedicate to him its number of the Monticola.

To all who have at heart the desire for a greater and better West Virginia
University, greetings.

DR. THOMAS EDWARD HODGES

A man big in body, mind and soul, he is recognized by the students as "one of the boys". West Virginia may well be proud that she has a native son capable of filling the important position of President of the State University. Through his strong personality and his executive ability West Virginia University has entered upon a growth which will soon place her among the leading educational institutions of the country.

DR. ALEXANDER REID WHITEHILL

Dr. Whitehill is one of the oldest members of the faculty in point of service and one of the best liked by the students. Through his untiring efforts and his thorough knowledge of his subject he has done much to make the Chemistry department one of the strongest in the University.

PROF. EDWIN F. CHURCH Jr.

The College of Engineering is fortunate in having upon its staff of instructors a man of the caliber of Professor Church. He has been instrumental in raising the College to its present high standard of efficiency. He is an untiring worker and endeavors to instil his industry into those under him.

DR. JAMES MORTON CALLAHAN

West Virginia University is fortunate in having at the head of her history department a man who is a master of his subject. Dr. Callahan has an enviable reputation as an author and a lecturer. Thoroughness is the keynote of his work. An enthusiast in his subject, he has proven a source of inspiration and encouragement to ambitious students.

PROF. W. H. ALDERMAN

Under the careful supervision of Professor Alderman the department of Horticulture has grown from its small beginning with one instructor to its present efficient force of five members. It is largely due to his efforts that the department of Horticulture is now doing its large and useful work throughout the state.

DR. JOHN L. SHELDON

In Dr. Sheldon West Virginia has a man whose reputation as a Botanist is international. Dr. Sheldon is not only a master of his subject but is also a teacher of great ability. He wins the good will of all who have work under him.

DEAN J. N. SIMPSON

Under the careful treatment of Dr. Simpson the Medical School has been restored to life, and has now entered a normal and healthy growth. We feel safe to predict that within a few years, under the supervision of such a leader, the Medical School of West Virginia University will compare favorably with the best institutions of its kind in the country.

PROF. JOHN HARRINGTON COX

Any student who has taken work to Professor Cox cannot but have felt the touch of a true scholar. It can truthfully be said that he has no place in his class for "bluffers" and "loafers". To the willing and conscientious student he is a warm friend. It is men of his type that give real strength to our faculty.

DEAN HENRY CRAIG JONES

After very great deliberation Dean Jones was elected as the one man with sufficient ability and proper ideals to insure for the College of Law the continued good reputation it has gained in former years. During his one or two short visits here he has created a good impression with the students and the members of the faculty. The College of Law is to be congratulated in having secured a Dean combining so many promising qualities.

President	J. STUART RACE
Vice-President	J. FRENCH ROBINSON
Secretary	POLLY ROYCE
Treasurer	E. C. SMITH
Historian	F. B. DEEM
Inter-Class Council	FRANK MADIGAN

J. S. RACE

Hail to our noble president,
Fair of form and face.
He early showed a taste for speed
And so they called him Race.

JEANNE MARSTILLER

What would we do without Jeanne?
In mischief she always is seen.
She's clever and witty, little and spry,
And that she is popular, who will deny?

BRADFORD LAIDLEY

This handsome young Junior named Brad
In history isn't half bad;
And as for the girls,
Because of his curls,
He's a very popular lad.

INA WOODFORD

This fair young co-ed named Woodford
 Never acts as if she were bored.
 She's some student of Greek,
 But he calls thrice a week
 And takes time she can scarcely afford.

D. N. MOHLER

This promising young legal light
 Immigrated from Washington and Lee.
 When he wakes up enough to recite,
 He makes a spiel like a Mick on a spree.

D. R. ERVIN

He's a very wonderful student,
 He hails from D. and E.
 When he graduates next year
 A farmer he will be.

RUSSELL H. GIST

Russell Gist is a brilliant young fellow,
As a farmer he's just about right.
To pay his respects to Stella,
He visits the Hall every night.

C. L. WALKER

He's joined everything in the school,
He's a student of much renown,
In politics the best he can fool,
His equal is yet to be found.

H. H. BAUMGARTNER

He's a banker of much renown,
The most methodical man in town.
He has hours for work and minutes for play,
He doesn't idle his time away.

CARRIE HERRING

This is a maiden so happy and airy
Our lovable nurse, our dear Doctor Carrie.
We all of us gladly her patients will be
When to her name there is added M.D.

JOHN J. JACOB Jr.

We now have a name very peculiar,
John Jeremiah Jacob Junior.
We predict that some day in spite of his name
He will mount to the top of the ladder of fame.

E. V. MORTON

As Athena from Jove's imperial head,
So "Beany" from Webster Springs:
Each morning he lies in his downy bed
Until after the second bell rings.

J. FRENCH ROBINSON

J. French Robinson, whom few can surpass,
Here is his pedigree: Vice-President of his class,
Star in engineering and military drill,
And forty-second cousin to Steamboat Bill.

ETHEL CASTO

Ethel loves to argue, so oft we have been told;
She chases 'way all proverbs with an explanation bold.
The Library is a favorite haunt for this independent miss,
And the question upmost in our minds—
"Does her knowledge come from this?"

E. M. FREUDENBERGER

Sweet is the strain of mellow refrain
That comes from his new mandolin,
But better by far when he pleads at the bar,
Is the music which flows from his chin.

H. M. HARPER

In Calculus he's jst about it
Worked a problem and made quite a hit.
Johnny looked hard and long
To find something wrong,
But he couldn't and 'most had a fit.

GUY PEOPLES

As the mass of the Peoples pass by
You will note one particular Guy;
To buy him a "pone",
He coughed up a bone,
And said, "I'll get Latin or die".

POLLY ROYCE

This is a maiden most graceful and airy,
Who as she dances resemb'les a fairy.
Some day this clever young actress named
Royce
Will make the heart of Belasco rejoice.

E. L. MILLER

In the cadet band, so goes the tale,
This musician went on the bum;
Hard cider got his goat at a sale,
And he kicked in the head of his drum.

ENOLA WAGNER

Enola is a gifted girl,
Five great minds has she:
Two are caught in glory's spell,
Two of them on Conaway dwell,
The other is at sea.

R. E. DAVIS

This noble youth is an Earl
One whom the ladies adore.
When he isn't out with one girl
He's out with three or four.

F. B. DEEM

Poet, lawyer and musician,
Editor and politician.
The man who leads the rifle team,
Our versatile friend, F. B. Deem.

EDWARD C. SMITH

He chases the Juniors to rob them of dues;
He used to get mixed in political stews,
But his time has been pretty well taken to date
In trying to explain why this book is out late.

S. R. HARRISON Jr.

A lineal descendant of "Old Tippecanoe",
When the pigskin is snapped he is sure to get through;
It's his greatest ambition as well as his nature,
To represent Elk in the State Legislature.

JESSIE BUSH

This is our Jess with bright sunny face
 Who has in all hearts a very warm place.
 She's clever at books and quick with her pen
 And oft studies nature in a deep Grafton
 Glen.

H. L. DORSE

This Long Island man as you all understand
 Has very little use for society.
 He plays "Home Sweet Home" on his old trombone
 And to smile at a girl deems impiety.

MELVILLE STEWART

Billiken at football has won much renown;
 He has a courage that never shows yellow.
 A better student is hard to be found,
 In all he's an excellent fellow.

B. R. CONRAD

This is B. R. Conrad, a former engineer,
 But now he is a Shakespeare shark without a single peer.
 He has a great ambition, a perfect English
 style,
 And for its full fruition he has studied quite a while.

FRENCH A. YOKE

"Let me have men who are fat,"
 Said Caesar, and then he spat.
 "Quite well tried",
 French Yoke replied,
 "But I'm satisfied just where I'm at."

LEO A. COLEMAN

In the Law School he's attained such high renown
 That the whole school is calling him Judge.
 He would long ago have been granted a gown
 But against him the "profs" have a grudge.

H. W. JARRETT

This bright mathematical star, named Pete
Johnny says is the best in his section,
When the class for grades in exams compete
He'll pass with a mark of perfection.

ROY F. MILLER

Behold a youth of much sobriety,
Full of learning, wisdom and piety;
Never on foolish pleasure bent,
For he's the Y. M. C. A. president.

CLINE M. KOON

There was once a young Freshman named
Koon,
Who chased Sophs by the light of the moon;
But the Sophs found his lair
And clipped off his hair
And 't didn't come out again soon.

RUTH REGINA HALE

Regina's exceedingly Hale,
Some star in dramatics is she;
She's the shark in each class without fail
But she just simply eats History.

HERBERT McMILLEN

Herbert McMillen, a good student they say,
Comes from somewhere on the M. & K.
His hobby is humming a raggy tune,
For girls he don't care a picayune.

L. M. HOLTON

Linville Moran Holton, from Huntington came he,
Around this place he hustles, as busy as a bee;
He studies French and Music and sings in Chapel Choir:
They class his voice as bass because he can't sing higher.

WILFORD J. BOOHER

The above is one you all know
In track he runs like a roe.
At the sound of his voice
The very birds rejoice
For he sings very much like Caruso.

C. S. ADAMS

Charles S. Adams, great musician,
Ancient member Chinese Band:
To Deas gave an exhibition—
Horrors! Horrors! Now he's canned.

JOHN WISE

This is our jolly good friend Johnny Wise
A good student they say in disguise.
When the bleachers did yield
He was borne off the field
For the sights affected his eyes.

T. J. BLAIR JR.

An unpretentious chap is Blair;
For fussing and girls he doesn't care.
He sits up all night and burns lots of gas
In order to lead in Sport Morris' class.

R. D. WOODS

This law student, Ralph D. Woods,
Is a quiet young Harrisvilleite.
He gets up and delivers the goods
When called upon to recite.

F. M. JAMISON

An elusive young student is Jamison
Of whom it is hard to keep track.
His time is taken in having fun
And in preparing excuses for Jack.

CATHERINE BEAUMONT

Accomplished is this maiden fair,
With grey-blue eyes and curling hair;
About her flock the loving swains
Enchanted by her fiddle's strains.

LAWRENCE KINNAIRD

To his eight o'clock class he's always late,
Though he runs to school at a furious gait.
In feminine wiles is he ensnared,
This long and slender, lank Kinnaird.

J. S. BURDETT

When he gets his lessons down pat
He'll with the whole class disagree,
But his arguments all fall flat
For he talks in a minor key.

ALVA J. GIBSON

The life of Gib. is a sad, sad story:
He furnishes grub for the dormitory.
He works quite hard whenever he can,
Bnt his mind and his thoughts are at Wesleyan.

WALTER K. BARNES

In the corps he's a privateer.
With him, to study is chronic.
He lives in a legal atmosphere
Where to him "every breath is a tonic".

J. R. SECKMAN

Said this athlete of note, named Seck,
"I'll play end or bust, by heck."
He ran like a cow,
With the coach had a row
And now he's a physical wreck.

H. W. ANGELUS BILLS

Henry Wilson Angelus Bills,
Trained in law and making wills,
Many a lady's love he kills,
Many a maid with pleasure thrills,
At this name of quips and trills
Henry Wilson Angelus Bills.

C. R. SYDENSTRICKER

A gifted engineer named Sy,
Tackled the boiler-making trade;
He early made the Theta Psi,
And left his classmates in the shade.

VIRGINIA BAKER

When troubles swarm about us, our footsteps always turn
To this quiet dark-eyed maiden, for we know she will not spurn
To lend a helping hand, to give advice or aught,
On any subject, action that demands a serious thought.

PERCY MANLEY

Percy is a Manley Ag.
Despises pulls for he doesn't need 'em;
Behind his classmates he'll never lag
For his determined aim is to Leedom.

L. W. BLANKENSHIP

L. W. Blankenship from Marshall hails.
He sells tan shoes at Nathan's store;
A history shark who never fails,
And makes a grade of seventy-four.

E. V. RICHARDSON

Mose, captain of last year's track,
To the farm is going back.
At Clarksburg he won a two mile race,
But in city life he can't go the pace.

JOSEPH BIERER

When a problem puts all else to rout
They send for the young Joseph Bierer.
They know he will straighten it out
Cause he's a sure enough engineer.

IDA WELLS SMITH

This fair fine maid from St. Mary's town
Packed a big trunk and to college came down.
She trips through the halls, answers telephone calls
No matter how many there's never a frown.

E. E. KNIGHT

You'd expect this brave and loyal young
Knight
To defend the ladies with all his might;
But alas, alas, he is now unable;
He has traded his lance and his shield for a cradle.

ROBERT E. QUIRK

This aggressive young athlete named Quirk
Coaches football just like a Turk.
He's a class room digressor,
He fools his professor,
And gets credit for excellent work.

P. E. MILLER

This is Percy, old chap, don't you know,
In law he surpasses them all;
'Tis said that he fears the girls so,
He'll walk a mile to avoid Woman's Hall.

LESLIE BROOKS

Leslie Brooks tackles his books,
As hard as he tackles the line.
But Dan Cupid's dart pierced his bold heart,
As a benedict he's now doing time.

ARTHUR FIKE

He hoped that some day an oration
Would win him eternal fame,
But his speech to his first congregation
They said was an infernal shame.

C. B. JOLIFFE

C. B. Jolliffe, corpulent man,
Teaches Physics as well as he can.
They threw him out of the Cadet Corps,
Because of the cost of the clothes he wore.

W. L. LINTON

This is Willie who edits the jokes,
Moral youth, never chews gum nor smokes,
His jokes are so bad,
It's really too sad,
For he laughs himself till he croaks.

H. J. MCGINNIS

This is a teacher well known in the state,
He has taught for many a year,
But now he has come to graduate
For he has brought his family here.

FILLMORE COMPTON

Great Æsculapius has trained this med,
The lyric muse hovers o'er his head,
Calliope has placed him in the band,
And great Apelles leads him by the hand.

J. PAUL JONES

John Paul Jones of historical fame
Adds great honor to a grand old name,
'Gainst weaker vessels puts up a good fight,
Meets the good ship Thistle and runs up
the white.

ARLINGTON FLEMING

A man of culture and le'sure is "Petsy"
Who refused to serve with the state cadets.
He can bowl like Hades,
Is strong for the ladies
Let them be either blonds or brunettes.

ETHEL HOULT

Tottie is a fairy maid,
Of scampering mice she's much afraid;
She is coy and quite demure,
You ask me if she studies—Sure!

WILHELM SCHAEFFER

Hark! that sound breaks in once more
With a fearful and horrible noise,
No! 'tis not the cannon's opening roar
But it's Shaf. in his new corduroys.

CLARA McCREERY

Giggle, giggle, giggle,
 Everywhere she's seen—
 Giggle, giggle, giggle,
 Without a rest between.
 Such sometimes is Clara;
 And yet we must confess
 We love her giggles every one
 And would not have them less.

H. C. SCHRAMM

There was a young fellow named Schramm,
 Who said, "I am just what I am,
 I scorn dancing and cards,
 Wine my progress retards,
 And for women I don't give a durn."

BIRD TURNER

She is unassuming and quiet,
 Feeds on very plain "Math" diet.
 But believe us, no one has said
 That she's a mere "figurehead."

T. H. CREEL

He started the race under Jack
Determined an A.B. to win,
But his pony got clean off the track
And the way he lost out was a sin.

C. E. MAHAN Jr.

His wondrous yearning after truth
Pursuit of law alone can quench.
We hope some day to see this youth
Established on a legal bench.

MAX WILCOXEN

With his uniform on he wields the baton
And leads the whole procession.
All the girls stop to smile at his wonderful style—
Now this is his own confession.

O. H. DAVIS

Clean, honest, fair and straight,
Greatest center in the state;
In next year's season we foresee
He'll lead our team to victory.

EDNA CASTO

This other Casto twin we wager
Will in Domestic Science major.
She shows great skill in making hash—
Extend your sympathy to Mr. Ash.

RALPH MARSHALL

With reading 'riting and 'rithmetic
Music he tries to interweave;
His hobby is college politics
His favorite song, "Sweet Genevieve."

RUTH MANEAR

Now Ruth Manear,
It is quite queer,
To the movies doth like to go.
Ball games it is true
Will suit her too
Whenever they're not too slow.

GUY GOFFE MEANS

This quiet young farmer named Means,
Raised on bacon, cornbread and beans,
Enrolled with the Ags,
Put on his glad rags,
And now sports around with the queens.

ROY HAYS

He stars with baseball mask and mitt
As he stands behind the plate.
In medicine he makes his greatest hit
For he studies early and late.

H. M. HARR

Herbert Milton Harr,
An Education star;
He studies hard for Dr. Deahl
And leads his class by far.

F. C. McCUSKEY

This worthy young man with red hair,
Said, "Latin and Greek I cau't bear."
So he cut out the culture
And took Agriculture,
Now he's learning to prune, plough and swear.

O. E. DULING

This is the one whom they call O. E.
Busiest man in school by far.
He's managed everything from A to Z;
In dramatics he's "among the stars."

J. SHIELDS MILLER

This is Lieutenant J. Shields Miller,
Calculus shark and lady killer (?).
He entered school in days of yore,
When Jack scared preps with his awful roar.

E. D. STEWART Jr.

Our editor has used up two barrels of ink
To make this annual a bear;
His efforts have not been in vain we think,
If this book's as well re(a)dd as his hair.

Junior Class History

RECENTLY there has fallen into the hands of the writer of this note a series of letters written at various intervals by a student of the University. As these letters were composed by one who is now a third year man, and as some of them set forth the achievements of the Juniors during their three years of College experience better than the historian of the class himself could do it, we take the liberty of selecting three of them, each written in a different year, and publishing them as a history of the Class of 1915.

—HISTORIAN.

MAY 29, 1912.

Dear Bill:

I am just finishing my first year at College and I want to tell you of my class. When I got here last fall I was started in with a lot of other boys and girls and we were called freshmen. I guess the reason they didn't call us freshmen was because there were so many more boys than girls. You know this University has a new President this year. His name is Hodges, and when we met to choose our leaders for the year we selected another fellow named Hodges to be President of our class. I don't know that they are any kin, but they are both mighty big men, Bill, and we are proud of them.

We hadn't been here no time hardly at all when a bunch of rude fellows called Sophomores began telling us what we had to do. We never said a word when they cut off a couple of our fellows' hair, but when they wrote up a lot of things about us and posted them all around town we wouldn't stand for it. I would tell you some of the things that were on them posters, Bill, but I am afraid the postoffice authorities would have me arrested. Well we wanted to meet them Sophomores and fight it out just to show them that we could wipe up the earth with them but there wasn't anything doing. Those fellows knew that they had bit off more than they could chew and they wouldn't meet us.

Well, we weren't going to let them off that easy so we went right after them. We made life miserable for them all the rest of the year. We captured their leaders, and scared them so they were afraid to have a boat ride, and did a lot of other things to them, so that, even if they did get to punch our president on the nose, you can bet they were very sorry they ever tried to do anything to us.

I just want to say in winding up that I am mighty glad I came here to school and got in with the class I did, for she is a hummer.

JUNE 4, 1913.

My dear Wilhelm:

My second year at college is drawing to a close and I shall soon have completed my service as an underclassman. My class, for various reasons which were better left untold, is somewhat diminished this year but we are still able to carry off the laurels as the banner class of the University. We met in the fall and chose one Maxfield Barber as our president and under his leadership we have been very active ever since.

Our most commendable feat this year was caring for the freshmen through the embryonic state of their college life. They flocked in here on us last fall in great numbers rivalling the Irish Shamrock in greenness and all other rocks in denseness. Thanks to some of our fellows who owned ears and were willing to let them become contaminated in a just cause we hauled the fresh ones out of town in great numbers, but like the proverbial Johnson eat they all came back. There was nothing to do then but endure them and make what we could out of them.

I feel that our efforts have not been in vain, for by inducing them early in the year to wear regulation headgear so that we could the more easily pick them out from among civilized people we have been able, for the greater part, to keep them well in hand. In spite of the rawness of the material on which we have had to work we are turning them out at the end of their first year showing some little signs of human intellect.

APRIL 25, 1914.

Dear Bill:

It will be but a few short weeks now until I am ready to assume the dignified role of Senior. Then I shall have but one year more until I can start out armed with my degree to conquer the world. My only regret in anticipating that event is that I shall be separated from the class with which I have been so pleasantly associated for the last three years. I take comfort in the thought, however, that I can always have the satisfaction of knowing that, while in college, I was a member of the class that furnished the most real live wires of any that ever went through the University. Under the leadership of our able president, "Stu" Race, the third year students are at the present time furnishing a large majority of the leaders in the different forms of student activities.

To show you that this is no idle boast I might state that the Junior class has this year furnished the captain elect and four other members of the football eleven, the captain and three other members of the Varsity nine, the captain and a number of other point winners in track, the captain of the University rifle team, the president of the University Y. M. C. A., the editor-in-chief and five out of six of the associate editors of the present staff of the college weekly, and that a board of editors chosen from the Juniors is now working on an annual year book that promises to be the best ever put out here.

I feel no hesitancy in predicting that there will be a large percentage of the members of this illustrious class who will be heard from many times after they have finished their college careers and have taken up their life's work.

Sophomores

Sophomore History

Sophomores! Has any class a more magic name?
Surely none other with so much of fame.

Old? No; in September, '12 we first came along
On into thirteen—fourteen with two hundred strong.

President—Griffith, next Jones, then other high chiefs;
Practical McDowell, the treasurer, and Daisy to write up the briefs.

Happy, and constant, and loyal, sincere and true,
Holding high red and white with Old Gold and Blue.

Orders we issued after the first week of school;
On with your caps, Freshies! Posters show forth the rule.

Many Freshmen sought to capture our President, making a call.
Much chagrin was their reward. He 'phoned; the Sophs came one and all.

Only when Freshmen felt the paddle wielded by the valiant Soph,
Over him came that impressive feeling which never wore off.

Rush! Rush! The fight is on—twenty-five 'gainst twenty-five;
Rah! Rah! First time on record—Sophs victoriously survive.

Even before on the gridiron, the Sophs had shown to their foes
Ever blazing forth their banner, triumphant over their woes.

Certainly, as Freshmen on the Track team, last year 'twas truly said,
Competing with others in athletics we were always ahead.

Longing for unity and friendship, at our meetings all were there
Lending voice and hand to the completion of every affair.

Ambitions we planned a boat ride such as was never enjoyed,
And for its joys and pleasures every means has been employed.

Stunt Night! Can we ever forget it? How electric and warning Macbeth
Tartled the audience with artistic "16" and the green face of Death.

Sophomores! Again we exclaim it. May our prospects ever be bright.
Successful Seniors of sixteen, may we go forth having done right.

Freshman Class History

THE fifteenth day of September, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, was a momentous one in the annals of West Virginia University. The Class of 1917, gathered from the seven corners of the state had entered on its career in that institution.

They registered on the first day with the usual difficulty that other unfortunate Freshmen have and were keen to observe that they were not the only ones having a hard time accomplishing this task.

The next week at Convocation they were welcomed into the school by President Hodges and the other classes. The President informed them that they were not only the best in numbers, but "one of the finest and best looking classes we have ever had." It did not take the other classes long to discover this, for soon they were being sought for athletics, choirs, literary clubs, and rushed for fraternities.

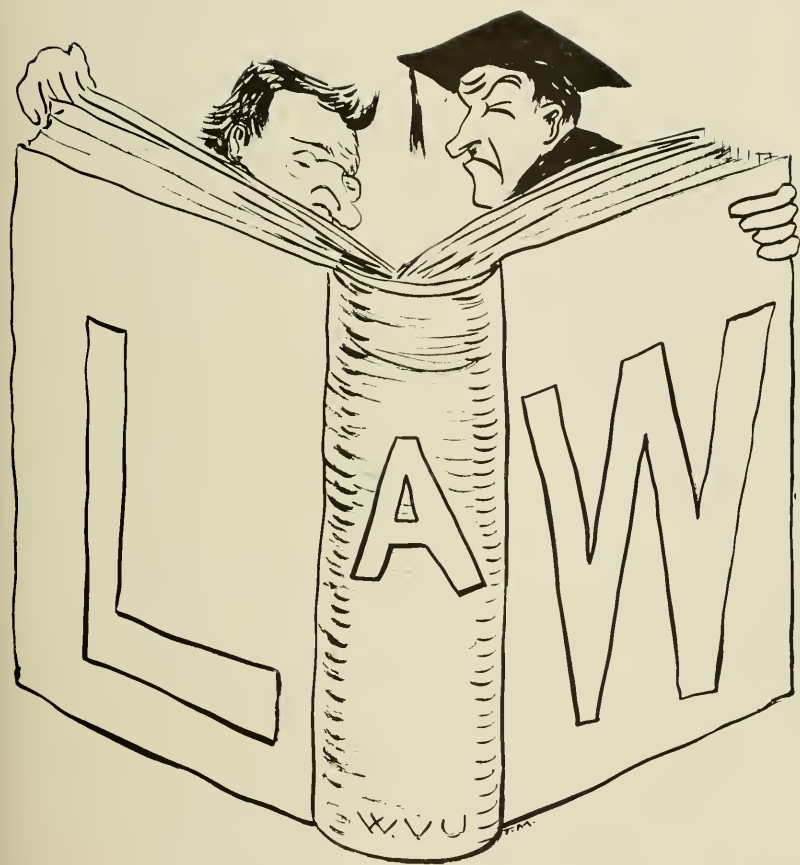

In several weeks the male faction of their number appeared in uniforms which were more pleasing to their lady admirers than to the uncomfortable fellows who had to wear them. All went well for about a month and then their newly acquired dignity was badly shattered by some glaring posters which evidently were made for their special benefit. This was the work of the Sophomores. They had always been the enemies of the Freshmen and this class was not to be any exception. Gallantly they lived down these insults and organized and selected an army to avenge their wrongs.

After that their opponents, the Sophs, realized the Freshies' superiority, and Mike Kerns, their honorable president, reigned in perfect peace and quiet over his adherents, many of whom will some day be famous as professors, doctors, lawyers, engineers, and agriculturists.

Medical History

LET your light so shine." From the fog of the uncertain past our Medical Class has bloomed out into great prominence and power. We have already moved the whole University with our savory incense from the "Anatomical Laboratory," and daily the supplications of admiring olfactorians go up with some semblance to a suit-grin.

The following observations point out some of the beacon-lights of our professional instincts:

As this is the age of woman suffrage, microbes, and other objectionable pests we have three of what our Dean calls the "weaker vessels" in our class and as we are gentlemen we give them precedence.

First, Miss Walters with her anaphalactic conscience makes 100% in Anatomy but has a normal reflex awake.

Carrie Herring—Hear what they all say—Faculty and students, "Carrie is sweet."

Pearl Bent, irresistibly funny, generally known as "Ma Bent," chaperones the "lovers" on their walks and shuts her ears to all remarks.

Our President, Charlie Bray, favors the ladies, visits Woman's Hall daily, and is favored by the Faculty. "Just so it's a girl," says Charlie.

John Niedermeyer, our future Pharmacologist, has a very scientific mind. He is especially interested in white mice and Camabies Indica. We expect to hear of John in the future.

"Bill" Goff, with his Thomas Jefferson face. How deceiving are looks! He has earned the name of "Crab".

Phil Compton, the minister's son, follows faithfully in his father's footsteps.

To see Clyde Gorby's curly hair and cherubic smile one would imagine his heart was gentle but alas, again looks are deceiving! He pines to see an operation.

Clay Casto devotes the greater part of his time to scientific research. He even allowed the class to take a record of the effect of a Campus Course in the spring-time on his own heart.

"Fats" Drake is always ill or unavoidably detained, and Carrie says he is charming in a dress suit.

Frank Heiskell always stays for supper at HER home on Sunday evening and never knows his Physiology Monday morning.

Martin Bonar says he likes medicine but adores a course in domestic science as a side issue.

Raymond Leu, commonly called "Janie", visited Woman's Hall but once. Mr. Coombs, the most accommodating man in school, will stop work any time to allow another person to have his place. It is whispered that he is learning to tango.

Wilbur Shirkey, when called upon to explain some rash statements says: "I found it in Piersol, Doctah."

Charlie Sinsel has an aversion to all kinds of mental labor but will swallow tobacco to speak to a girl.

Roy Hays commonly roars, "My Golly, Len, hurry up. We've got to finish this dag-goned record before dinner."

D. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. Reception

The very first social event of the year was the reception given by the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations to the students of the University. The Association officers, some of the ministers of the town and members of the faculty were in the receiving line. During the evening attractive little folders were given each guest for the purpose of exchanging autographs. Dr. Armstrong won the prize for having the most names. Refreshments were served to the great number of guests present.

Alpha Xi Delta Picnic

Iota Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority motored to The Oaks and had a delightful picnic, Saturday, October the fifth. Supper was served at six and later dancing was the feature of the evening. Besides the members of the Chapter and their friends many of the alumni were present. The chaperones were Mrs. Wells, Miss Colwell and Mrs. Alderman.

Chi Omega Dance

One of the principal social events of the autumn was the dance given by Theta Chapter of Chi Omega Sorority to celebrate the fall Eleusinia of the Fraternity. Over three hundred guests were received by Miss Fitch, Mr. Jones, Miss Munson, Mr. Wilkinson, Miss Sine, Mr. Carter, Judge and Mrs. Cox, Professor and Mrs. John Harrington Cox, Miss Fisher, Mr. Vawter, Miss Purinton, Professor Darby, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Del Roy Richards, Miss Coombs, Mr. Shirkey and Dr. and Mrs. Truscott. Cardinal and straw were prominent in the decorations of the Armory, as were ferns and college and fraternity pennants. Punch was served during the evening and at the intermission delicious refreshments. The music was furnished by Kettering's Orchestra of Greensburg, Pennsylvania.

Kappa Kappa Gamma Reception

On November the eleventh at the President's House the Kappas charmingly entertained the wives of the faculty, other sororities and their friends in town in honor of their Grand President, Miss Eva Powell, of Berkeley, California. Miss Powell, Mrs. Hodges, Mrs. Hite, Miss Susan Maxwell Moore, Miss Kumlir and Miss Kearney graciously received the guests.

Mrs. C. Edmund Neil took the guests to the dining room where Mrs. F. B. Trotter, Mrs. H. Zevely and Mrs. Madison Stathers poured. The decorations were artistic and consisted of cut flowers and smilax. Flower favors were given the guests by Mrs. James Moreland.

Theta Nu Epsilon Dance

One of the most delightful dances of the year was the annual dance given at Court Hall by Theta Theta Chapter of Theta Nu Epsilon Fraternity. The hall was beautifully decorated in the colors of the fraternity, black and green. In one corner was a bower in which were two skeletons with red and green lights for eyes. These bony gentlemen were seated at a table playing cards.

Cadenza's Orchestra of Clarksburg furnished the music. The programs were black card cases with a fac simile of the fraternity pin embossed on the back and the favors were monacles on long black silk ribbons. After the dance a three course luncheon was served at Comuntzis'. The patronesses were Mrs. C. Edmund Neil, Mrs. Harry Zevely, Miss Susan Maxwell Moore, Mrs. Stanley Cox, Mrs. Gilbert Miller, Mrs. John N. Simpson, Mrs. James Smith and Mrs. Glenn Williams. The committee in charge was A. T. Smith, C. W. Teter, D. N. Mohler, and L. E. McWhorter.

Fraternity Receptions

Two of the fraternities, Sigma Chi and Phi Kappa Psi, gave charming informal receptions on the afternoon of February the fifth. The houses were beautifully decorated in the fraternity colors. Flower favors were given the hundreds of guests who were present.

The Military Ball

The annual Military Ball which was held in the Armory Friday evening, February the fifth was one of the brilliant social events of the season. Nearly four hundred guests were present, among whom were many out of town visitors. Lieutenant Archer, the Committee in charge and their ladies, and the following patronesses received the guests: Mrs. Thomas E. Hodges, Mrs. J. H. Cox, Mrs. E. W. McNeil, Mrs. S. M. Whiteside, Mrs. George Rogers, Mrs. C. W. Waggoner, Mrs. C. Edmund Neil, Mrs. J. B. Krak, Mrs. B. H. Hite, Mrs. E. D. Sanderson, Mrs. R. R. Chrisman, and Mrs. Harry Zevely.

The Grand March was led by Major Heflin and Miss Pearcey. The program consisted of twenty-one regular dances and four extras. The music was furnished by Cadenza's Orchestra of Clarksburg. At eleven o'clock a delicious supper was served by Caterer Ziegenfelder of Wheeling. The decorations were unusually beautiful, consisting of palms, ferns, pennants, American flags, old gold and blue bunting and countless electric lights. Around the orchestra was a railing which gave the effect of an old fashioned garden wall over which yellow primroses clambered. The Committee on arrangements were Cadet Major Neal M. Heflin, Captains James Allen, Lewis Burrell, S. Paul Hoskins, M. L. Bonar, D. R. Dodd, and Quartermaster Sergeant G. H. Easley.

Sigma Nu Convention Ball

The most brilliant and successful social event of the year was given by Gamma Pi Chapter of the Sigma Nu Fraternity in honor of the delegates attending the Fourth Division Convention here. The Armory was decorated with W. V. U. and Sigma Nu pennants. The ceiling and walls were hung with old gold and blue and black and gold bunting. At one end of the Armory was a Sigma Nu pin with electric lights for the jewels, at the other end the Greek letters Gamma Pi. The receiving line was composed of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. C. R. Huston, Mr. Ballard, Mrs. Ed. McNeil, Mr. C. H. Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Whiteside, Miss Susan Maxwell Moore and Mr. W. W. Canaga.

At eight-thirty the grand march began, led by Miss Sine and Mr. McDonald. It was an unusually beautiful march and when all the dancers formed the letters Sigma Nu on either side of the orchestra, all the lights were switched off except those in the Sigma Nu pin at the South end and those in Gamma Pi at the North end and the effect was charming.

The program consisted of sixteen regular and two special dances. The first was the Sorority Special in which the ladies were screened off at one end of the Armory, and the men chose the foot that appealed to their fancy. The "Cinderellas" were presented with hand painted ivory fans as favors. In the Fraternity Special the ladies were given canes and as they marched past drew cards bearing the name of the man they were to favor. An elaborate and elegant luncheon was served during the intermission. Cadenza's Orchestra, in a most beautiful palm garden, furnished the music.

Fi Bata Cappar=Alfa Chapter

At midnight on Friday, March 13th, five young men of West Virginia University were awakened from their slumber by a wierd voice saying, "Come, ye men of West Virginia, to the bright light on the summit of Dorsey's Knob, there to receive instructions beneficial to you and your fellow students.

Led by an irresistible impulse each of the young men arose and started on the journey, not knowing that the others had been called in a like manner. Slowly they climbed through a drizzling rain, up the slippery mountain side toward the light which grew paler as they came nearer the top. Having come by different pathways no one knew of the others' presence until suddenly a flame burst forth from the ground before them, and each saw and recognized the faces of his fellow students. All stood in deathlike silence until there arose from the flame a tall form draped in spotless white, and all again was dark. Presently the oracle spoke and all recognized the same voice which had called them from their sleep: "Know ye not, men of W. V. U. that your beloved institution is becoming infected with the same deadly selfishness and listlessness that has caused even nations to perish? Will ye stand idly by and see jealousy, egotism and selfishness suck the last drops of life blood from the veins of your sacred Alma Mater? Ye five are the worst offenders."

Trembling with fear they asked, "O, oracle, what then may we do?"

And the oracle answered, saying, "Go ye forth among your fellow students, select such of them as are determined in their efforts, loyal to the institution and steadfast in friendship. Assemble these men into a body and when the moon has risen to the middle of the heavens on the thirteenth night from tonight, return to me for further instructions.

This they did in strict obedience. Men were watched secretly in all their college activities and only those were selected whose every act and word bespoke loyalty to West Virginia.

When the moon had risen for the thirteenth time, the five men returned fearfully to the oracle and as one day gave way to the next, the oracle appeared and pointing its bony finger to a golden scroll, said, "Read and obey."

At the top of this scroll were engraved the three Greek characters Fi Bata Cappar meaning fidelity, harmony and loyalty. Beneath these characters were the secrets and laws which are kept sacredly sealed in the bosom of every member.

They adopted as a badge a small piece of sheepskin emblematical of the goal of this college life. The skin is fastened to the garment on which it is worn by a piece of brass from the ancient brazen calf, the meaning of which is one of the secrets of the organization.

Thus came Fi Bata Cappar, the organization whose cardinal virtue is "boosting." Every member has solemnly sworn to exert his every effort to awaken the old spirit which formerly was the most striking characteristic of a West Virginian.

Football Review

VIEWED from the standpoint of one directly interested and closely connected with this important department of the institution, the year of 1913-14 at the West Virginia University, athletically speaking, was a success. The word "success," however, is used with certain limitations and it must not be given its fullest meaning by those who possess it in their vocabulary. In these days, no season, whether football, baseball, track or otherwise in which Varsity organizations bow to the supremacy of West Virginia Wesleyan can conscientiously be termed a "success." It goes against the grain of loyal students and followers of various athletic teams to admit that the West Virginia football team was forced to acknowledge the superiority of the Wesleyanites on the gridiron last fall. The score was 21 to 0 and the victory carried with it all the honors accompanying the state inter-collegiate championship.

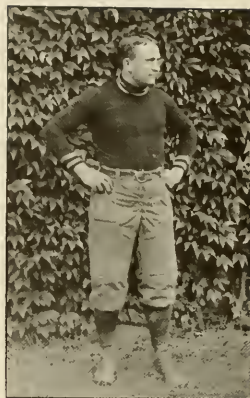

Whether the defeat was a direct result of Wesleyan's strength or West Virginia's weakness and whether this state of affairs was the result of inefficient coaching is a question which has been debated pro and con many times since the season closed. The question may be a debatable one but it is the honest belief of the writer that West Virginia was weak because good material for a winning team was lacking. When a contractor undertakes to build a house he has special material for different parts of the work. He must have hardwood in order to get a good finish; he must have pine for the weather boarding and he must have hemlock for the heavy timbers. The same is true of a football coach. For the line he must have heavy men with ability to charge fast and low; ends that rush in to break up the interference and passes; backfield men with ability to plunge the line and skirt the ends for substantial gains and an organization that works as a well oiled machine. Backfield material last fall was lacking. Weight and speed are two essentials for a backfield man and it so happened last fall that the men who played the positions possessed one and not the other.

Considerable experimenting had to be done on account of the fact that Coach E. R. Sweetland and Assistant A. F. Baker were new. Experimenting in football is costly but it had to be done last fall. Only three men played the same positions in the last game that they did in the first and no one doubts the fact that the team which defeated Villa Nova 7 to 0 on the closing day was fifty per cent. stronger than the one which lost the state honors to Wesleyan.

Adverse weather conditions and lack of spirit on the part of the candidates in reporting for daily practice were also important factors in the poor showing of the team. Dame Fortune did not even favor the eleven, as several of the best men on the team were laid up during the season with injuries. In addition to all this the schedule was one of the hardest ever played by a Varsity football team and then, too, it happened that every team West Virginia played was the strongest their institution had ever turned out. This was especially true of Washington and Jefferson, Washington and Lee, University of Pittsburgh and West Virginia Wesleyan. Tie games were played with Marietta and Morris Harvey and both should have been won by the Varsity. It was the weakness of both Davis and Elkins and Waynesburg and not West Virginia's strength that accounted for the decisive victories in the first two games of the season.

As a result of the showing of the football team, an organized movement was set on foot by the alumni for the revision of athletics in general and the result of the rejuvenation will be seen next year. The athletic committee was made more representative inasmuch as hereafter it will be composed of two representatives from the student body, two from the faculty and two from the alumni. The members of the committee are in line with the revision movement and are working hand in hand with the alumni. "A winning football team for 1914" is the slogan adopted by all and unless there is a decided change in the atmosphere such will be the result.

Captain Melville P. Boyles began his football career at Fairmont Normal where he was the bright and shining light in athletics throughout his prep course. As a Freshman he played tackle on the Varsity and the next season was shifted to guard which position he has held for three years. He was chosen on the all-state team for four years in succession. He also holds the all-state shot-put record and in his Junior year was all-state champion in track.

Captain elect O. H. Davis, commonly known as "Pigiron" gained his early experience on the Charleston High School team. He captained that team in his senior year. His first experience in Varsity football was in the 1911 W. & J. game in which he did much to win a victory for his team. The surest tackler on the squad, a master of the spiral pass, his work has proved a tower of strength for the Varsity. He has been the almost universal choice for all-state center for the past three years.

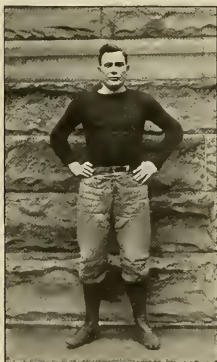

Truman M. Martin never had a football suit on until the fall of 1910. Despite his inexperience, the amount of pep displayed won for him a place on the Varsity the following season. Least in weight of all Varsity line men, he has been able to hold his place against all comers for the last two years. Besides his football work he is manager of the track team, a member of the staff of the College weekly and is affiliated with a number of the honorary societies about the University.

Clarksburg High School and Franklin and Marshall Academy divide the honor of developing a good end for the Varsity in the person of S. R. Harrison. He was a dependable member of each of these school's gridiron warriors for two years. Bob. jumped right into his position on the Varsity the first day out in uniform and he has been there ever since. He will long be remembered in the University for his speed in getting down the field under punts and for his ability to break up the interference of his opponents.

C. P. Leatherwood—"Mike" is a product of Wheeling and thinks and talks in terms of athletics. Although having previously won his "W.V.", his work as half back on this year's Varsity stands out as the most brilliant of his football career. Owing to his ability to tackle hard and snare on the defense, and to carry the ball for gains on the offense, this speedy youth proved an indispensable man to his team. His enviable record was properly climaxed in the last contest of the season when he ran the ball back ninety yards from the kick-off for the only touchdown of the game. Incidentally, he is a member of the Varsity nine, Captain of the Law School basketball team, a member of the staff of the College weekly and president of the Junior Laws.

G. C. Musgrove—In his prep. days "Mussy" battled for four seasons on the gridiron of the Fairmont Normal School. For two years he has played a guard's position on the Varsity and has made a hit by his impersonation of an irresistible force on offense and of an immovable object on defense. In spite of the fact that he has been handicapped by a weak ankle which has kept him out of several games he has easily won his "W.V." both seasons. He is also president of the University Agricultural Association and a literary man of some note.

Moundville people who are at all acquainted with their city's High School athletics will tell you that Melville Stewart was one of the best football players that school ever produced. On entering the University "Billiken" had little trouble in proving that he was Varsity material. He is a dependable fullback and was used in that position throughout the greater part of the past two seasons. The word "yellow" is not in this plucky lad's vocabulary and if determination and grit will turn the trick he can be depended upon to carry the ball through his opponents' defense.

Leslie Brooks was just about the last word in athletics at West Virginia Wesleyan throughout his secondary school career. He played on that school's football team from the time he entered, and captained it his last year. His work on the Varsity during the past two years has been of a very high degree of excellence. His playing position is at tackle where he can hold his own with the best. Incidentally we might add that the only time he was ever shown up was this year when one Daniel H. Cupid played him off his feet and left him a penitent Benedict.

J. S. Race—"Stew" played a good game on the Fairmont High School team for two years. He didn't come out for the Varsity, however, until his Sophomore year. Since that time he has made good in practically every position on the team except the line. His services on the gridiron have been exceptionally valuable in that in addition to being an excellent player he has an abundance of "pep" and is able to use it as an inspiration to his teammates. He is also president of the Junior Class and this year won the cup offered for high average in the inter-fraternity bowling league.

Harry Curry is a Grafton High School product and for four years he upheld the standard of that institution on the gridiron. He captained his team in his senior year and led his brave cohorts to many a well earned victory. Although but a Freshman he has already made his presence felt in Varsity athletics. He played a back field position on the football team in several important games this year and gave a good account of himself. Curry will be a valuable man in athletics during his three remaining years in the University.

Dorsey Brannan entered the University last year coming from the town of Grafton. Previous to that time he had never had any football training and thinking he had no chance to make the Varsity he failed to come out in his Freshman year. But when the call for candidates was made this year he came out and showed such an adaptability for learning the fine points of the game that he soon won a permanent berth.

E. J. Larkin, better known as Ed., had served a very thorough apprenticeship in football at Georgetown and on the East Cleveland High School teams before coming to the University. He cinched a place on the Varsity the first day out and his right to retain that place was never in question. He has the true football fighting spirit and there were few plays pulled off during the season in which he failed to figure. He started the season at end and was later shifted to tackle where he gave some of the best exhibitions of line playing ever seen on the athletic field.

Howard Henrie was the main stay on the Parkersburg High School eleven for four years and when he entered the University last fall decided to make a try for the Varsity. "Dad's" natural position is at tackle but these positions were so well taken care of by old veterans that entering as a new man he was badly handicapped. In spite of this he played in a sufficient number of games to win his letters and will be a strong asset for the team during his three remaining years of college life.

"Lefty" Allen hails from the city of Parkersburg where he learned his A B C's of football and won much renown as a speedy quarterback. That he has been able to live up to his reputation is evidenced by the fact that in spite of this being his first year in the University he was used in a sufficient number of games during the football season to entitle him to his "W.V."

F. M. Chenoweth—In the athletic history of Broadus College, "Chenny's" name is indelibly written on every page. When he came to the University last fall it was predicted that he would make good on the Varsity teams and he has. He played quarterback throughout a large part of the football season and his clear-headed generalship in the Thanksgiving day game did much in winning from Villa Nova. He is also a member of the Varsity pitching staff and has proved a valuable man to his team.

Baseball Review

FACING one of the longest and hardest baseball schedules ever arranged for a West Virginia team, Coach B. P. Pattison, graduate of the Michigan Agricultural College, assumed the responsibility in March of developing a Varsity nine out of a dearth of new and unknown material. The task was a complicated and difficult one but after considerable experimenting Coach Pattison finally settled on a combination that proved to be one of the best that ever wore the Varsity monogram.

Coach Pattison had only a short time in which to pick a team to make the longest trip ever undertaken here. The jaunt started on Wednesday April 8th and concluded on Sunday, April 26th, fifteen games being scheduled. Thirteen contests were played on the Southern journey, six being won and seven lost. The best teams in Virginia, North Carolina, Maryland and Pennsylvania were played and W. V. U. proved a match for all. The most important victories on the trip were those registered over V. M. I., Navy, Maryland Aggies, and Elon College. The team traveled close to 3,300 miles, the following men making the trip: pitchers, Barron, Hagan, Adams and Chenoweth; catchers, Hays and Fidler; infielders, Simon, Leatherwood, Smith and Captain Dille; outfielders, Trail, Ayers and Leng; Coach, B. P. Pattison, Graduate Manager, Carl G. Bachman and Manager Paul Hoskins. Hersey joined the club at Pittsburgh as a substitute for Adams.

CAPTAIN DILLE

Bethany was the next attraction and the series resulted in a split, each team winning one game. The coach held back Barron and Hagan for the championship games with Wesleyan.

Wesleyan was played the same week, the series resulting in a tie. "Lefty" Barron lost his game at Fairmont in eleven innings by the score of 3 to 2 but "Jack" Hagan finished the victor the day following in Clarksburg, the score being 12 to 6. West Virginia pounded four pitchers and ran the bases like wild men. The Varsity showed a reversal of form after the championship games losing to Notre Dame and breaking even with Pitt.

The first year men were the real surprises of the season. This was especially true of Simon, who worked with honors at first base, Fidler who shared the backstop work with Hays and Hersey and Ayers who played right and center field. Smith was switched from third to short to make a place for Captain Dille and he showed to an advantage throughout the season. Captain Dille put up a fine article of ball at the third station and was a dependable man with the stick. Leatherwood was brought in from the outfield at the beginning of the season and placed at second base. Hays enjoyed his best year and Casto, who held down left field for his fourth consecutive year was never in better form. Barron gained big league fame by his wonderful pitching and dope says he is due for a major league berth. Hagan rounded into form following his return from the trip and since that time has been coming across with regular wins. Chenoweth and Sullivan produced every time Coach Pattison called on them, the latter jumping into the limelight when he held Bethany to one hit on May 7th.

Track Review

ALTHOUGH track has received but little attention here in the past, the record made in the season of 1913 shows what could be done in that department if the proper encouragement were given to it. Without equipment or running track, and working under conditions that would have discouraged any but a follower of the Old Gold and Blue, our men developed sufficient ability to sew up the state championship in the meet held in Clarksburg on May 30, 1913. The men on the team last year, with two or three exceptions were all new men and the good showing made was largely due to the excellent coaching of Director Edmunds. West Virginia last year also had the honor of having the all-state champion in track in the person of M. P. Boyles.

Up to the present time there has been but little opportunity to get a line on the possibilities in track for this year. It was a somewhat significant fact that in the inter-class meet held on the athletic field on May 14th the freshmen had the greatest number of point winners. These men added to last year's team which lost but two men by graduation should give the Varsity a winning combination when the men go to Fairmont to compete in the state meet this year. Coach Sweetland deserves great credit for his untiring efforts in preparing the men for this event.

The University glee and mandolin clubs after an absence of six years from University circles during which time the need of musical clubs became more and more evident to the undergraduate body of the school, have once more been established as undergraduate institutions in the University, and now bid fair to regain all of their lost prestige throughout the state.

Early in the spring of 1913 an organized movement for the re-establishment of the clubs was begun and a committee of students appeared before Director Louis Black of the music school and laid before him their plans for the formation of the glee and mandolin clubs. Director Black accepted the responsibility of building up the glee club and tryouts were immediately held with the result that forty voices responded to the first call for candidates.

The work of perfecting the club and the working up of a program was begun and the first concert by a University glee club in seven years, was given in Commencement Hall during May, 1913.

This preliminary work formed an adequate background for a more substantial organization, and with the opening of the fall semester rehearsals were begun for the 1913-14 program.

The organization of a mandolin club to work in conjunction with the glee club presented a much more difficult problem inasmuch as there was no faculty representative of the music school who could take charge of this end of the work. After considerable planning, L. E. McWhorter Jr., of Charleston, W. Va., a first year law student, was asked to take charge. Mr. McWhorter, himself a mandolin player of much talent but without any experience at directing the ensemble work, succeeded in building up a club of eight mandolins and two guitars in a manner which reflected much credit upon himself and the University.

The joint concert of the two clubs was given in the Swisher Theater Thursday evening, January 30. Following this the club made a tour of the state giving six recitals. The cities visited were Clarksburg, Spencer, Huntington, Williamson, Charleston and Weston and at every stop, backed by enthusiastic alumni support, the clubs were accorded a royal reception and were the mark of much favorable press comment.

That the clubs are now permanently organized and will take their place among the college musical organizations of the country, is assured. As a medium of advertisement for the University, musical clubs are recognized as one most productive of results and to those who have worked so hard for the success of the Varsity glee and mandolin "teams", only the highest praise and commendation is forth-coming. To Harold B. Marr, who successfully financed the trip of the thirty-two men, must be given the sole credit for putting the clubs on a firm financial basis.

Work is already in progress for next year's concert when it is expected an extensive tour will be taken.

Thurs. 7.—Another game with Bethany. We won 2 to 0.

Fri. 8.—On to Fairmont. Short game played. Billiken for particulars.

Sat. 9.—Special from Clarksburg—Wesleyan is down and out. 12:30 a. m.—Many have come but a few are yet to be seen. Carfer is some scrapper, n'est-ce pas?

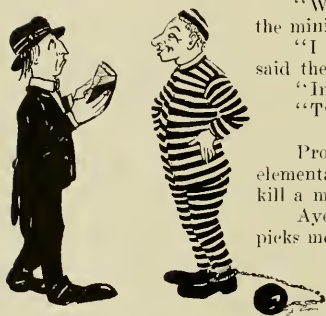

Sun. 10.—Last copy prepared for Monticola.

If you call W. J. Cormany would you call Susan Moore?
 What would R. B. Hersey if he saw Theodore Holden?
 Cause he let Charley Sinsel him would you Guy Peoples?
 Should Roseoe Thrasher would Marie Smart?
 If F. B. Deem it wise do you think Mike Leatherwood?
 Was Max Wright when he called Johnny Wise?
 If Howard C. Brown what color would Doxsee?
 How much of the John D. Brand would it take to "Stew" Race?
 Would it make Frank Madigan to see Roseoe Posten Henry Wilson Angelus Bills?

I'll Say, Some Jokes

Backward, turn backward, O Time in your flight;
Feed me on grub again, just for a night;
I am so weary of sole-leather steak,
Petrified hardtack a sledge could not break;
Tomatoes and beans in a watery bath,
Sow-belly strong as Goliath of Gath.
Weary of starving on what I can't eat,
Chewing up rubber and calling it meat.
Backward, turn backward, for weary I am,
Give me a whack at my grandmama's jam.
Let me drink milk that has never been skimmed,
Let me eat butter whose hair has been trimmed,
Let me have once more an old fashioned pie,
Then I'll be ready to go south and die.

"Why are you here, my poor fellow?" asked the minister who was visiting the prison.

"I am the victim of the unlucky number, 13," said the prisoner.

"Indeed! How is that?"

"Twelve jurors and one judge, sir."

Prof. Trotter (explaining a proposition in elementary law)—"Now suppose Mr. Ayers should kill a man in cold blood——"

Ayers to "Buck" Wilson—"Yes, he always picks me out to do his dirty work."

Ed. Larkin—"Doc Reese had better not flunk me or I'll sic some of his old protozoa on him."

Young lady—"Have you ever been at Woman's Hall?"

Young man—"No, but I have passed it several times."

"Professor Black, why are you so sure there is no such thing as the fourth dimension?"

"Because," said the discouraged fat Prof. "if there was I'd have it."

(At Woman's Hall) "What would you do if I should kiss you?" asked the young man.

"Do?" said the girl, "I'd scream for help."

"Don't bother, I can do it without any help."

"Ash, what makes a man always give a lady a diamond engagement ring?"
Ash—"The lady."

"What is it, do you suppose, that keeps the moon in place and prevents it from falling?" asked Janet.

"I think it must be the beams," replied Postie, and then he fled.

If they took Hathaway would they take him to J. Ward?

Simeon, (reading a student's theme).—"One day a young man saw a very beautiful girl walking along the street. He wanted to meet her so he followed along after her."

"Well," said Prof. S. "He'd never meet her that way."

John Dille (at a Pt. Marion restaurant).—"Waiter, bring me some of them good old prunes."

Waiter—"Stewed, sir?"

John—"None of your business."

One of the cadets bumped his head at Wheeling and was expressing his feelings in cuss-words when Sergeant May came running up and said: "Cut out the cussin'. There's women in the grandstand, and besides Artie Groves might hear you."

After final examination in Equity, Prof. Trotter announced: "A text-book in Equity was left on my desk. It is perfectly clean and has not been used much. If the owner is present, he is perfectly welcome to the book."

"Lefty" Barron went and got the book, remarking, "Well, that shows I entered Equity with clean hands."

Davis—"Going to Convocation this morning Posten?"

Postie—"Indeed no, I don't want religion breaking in on the middle of my week."

Frances Williams, running into Carrie Herring's room—"Oh, Carrie, for goodness sake tell me a good anecdote."

Carrie—"Gracious me, Frances, what kind of poison did you take anyways?"

Valerie Schultz at dance—"Who is that man over there in the corner? Is he a professor on the Social Committee?"

Escort—"No, he is the janitor."

Carrie H.—"Miss Hedrick, are you going to the Glee Club concert?"

Miss Hedrick—"No I went last year."

"Just one more question," pleaded a member of Johnnie's Calculus class.

"All right," said Prof. Riesland.

"Well say, who is going to bury the last man that dies?"

"I don't like your heart action," said Dean Simpson, applying the stethoscope again. "You have some trouble with Angina pectoris."

"You're partly right Doctor," said the "rat" sheepishly, "Only that aint her name."

"Now, Mr. Stone," said Dr. Chitwood, "tell us what you would think if you saw the stars and stripes waving over the field of battle."

"I should think," was the response, "that the wind was blowing."

Does O. M. Gunnoe what Guy Means?

Prof. Hardman after asking a question of each man in his class and getting no response, said: "It's too big a job trying to hold class when no one knows his lesson. You are all excused."

As the class made a break for the door Posten remarked: "Well, Professor, I am ready to quit."

Prof. Hardman—"Why, what's the matter now, Mr. Posten?"

Posten—"There is only one thing in law that I have been absolutely sure I knew, and now I find that I was mistaken about that."

Prof. Hardman—"Well, what is that?"

Posten—"I have always been taught to believe that ignorance of the law excuses no one, and here this morning I find it excuses everybody."

"I heard you were arrested for speeding," said Smith to Race.

"I was," replied Stu.

"What did the Judge say?" asked Smith.

"Fine."

"Sport" Morris entered Ream's cigar store, bought three cigars and lighted one.

"Lord, this is a rotten cigar!" he shouted.

"Say, man, what are you complaining about?" growled Ream. "You only have three of those cigars and I still have nine hundred and ninety-seven."

Mr. Wise breezed into the library the other morning and told his wife that their son John was developing artistic ability. "Johnnie drew a picture of a hen. His room-mate threw it in the basket. It laid there."

(Overheard in "Moot Court") "Are you the Reprobate Judge?"

"I am the Probate Judge."

"That's what I mean," said the lady. "You see, I am in trouble. My husband was studying at a logical cemetery to be a preacher, and he died detested and left me three little infidels, and I have come to you to be appointed their executioner."

Wileoxen went to a vaudeville show in Huntington. "Give me two of the coolest seats in the house," he said to the ticket seller.

Ticket seller—"All right sir, here are two in Z row."

"It wouldn't have been so bad," explains the "Boob," "but the chap behind me asked for the dog seat and got K-9."

(In Prof. Neil's Class). The speaker was waxing eloquent and after his peroration on woman's rights he said: "When they take our girls, as they threaten, away from the co-educational colleges, what will follow? I repeat it, what will follow?"

Ajax Smith yelled, "I will."

Prof. McCaskill—"Mr. McNemar, if I should come down there and take you by the hair, would that be a trespass?"

McNemar—"No sir, that would be a miracle."

Why does McIntyre when he sees Joe Whelan?

Prof. Hardman—"Harrison, will you take the ease of Reymann vs. Schmulbach?"

Harrison—"No, thanks, Professor, I don't drink."

Prof. Trotter—"What does the Latin phrase 'In loco parentis' mean in law?"

Posten—"Why that means, in your father's Locomobile."

Heiskell—"I am all out of patience (patients) today."

Dr. Morris—"Quite a common thing for a doctor."

The class was dumb, the Prof enraged,
His fingers clawed the air.

" 'Tis worry over such as you
That's made this old head bare,"
Cried he between his gritted teeth
As he tried hard not to swear.

"Since worry tends the hair to kill
How dare you worry so?
'Can it be you have no fear of death?"
Asked a Freshie, soft and low.
With thundering voice the Master cried.
"The door stands open, go!"

Dame Fortune always gives, to those
Who by their bravery please her,
A just reward, and so it proved
With this youth Ebenezer,
For he now sits on his lord's right hand
And reads the words of Caesar.

Prof. Reese, noticing that "Buck" Wilson remained awake during class in Zoology—"Mr. Wilson, I am very sorry that you were troubled with insomnia this morning."

"Mrs. Buggins is always complaining that she has so little to wear," said Mrs. Smith.

"Well, I saw her at the ball last night," said her husband, "and she seemed to be wearing it."

Brown McDonald, reproducing Webster's Bunker Hill speech—"It was on this spot that many of the great events of the Revolutionary war were pulled off——"

(6:45 p. m.) "Wink" to the girls—"I would have to love a man pretty hard to go out with him tonight."

(6:50 p. m.) "Wink" over the phone—"Why, certainly, Ed. I would just love to go. Come right away."

Katherine Alger in Zoology—"Mr. Wiest, let me see your frog legs, will you?"

Max Wright, seeing reporter writing up Kappa Kappa Gamma sled ride—"Now, there goes my name in the paper again."

If Boyles got sore would Petey Lantz?

Leatherwood—"Professor, if a man ships a wild animal by express, does he have to sign a contract with the railroad company to assume all liability for damages done?"

Prof. Trotter—"I think not. I shipped a cow to Terra Alta last week and the agent didn't require it of me."

Leatherwood—"Yes, but your cow was not a wild animal."

Prof. Trotter—"Mr. Leatherwood, you don't know that cow."

"Chany" Waggoner was asked by a student one day in lab. if he wanted a good recipe for catching rabbits.

"Why, yes," replied the Prof. "What is it?"

"Well," said the student, "You crouch down behind a stone and make a noise like a turnip."

"That may be," replied the Prof. with a twinkle in his eye, "but a better way than that would be for you to go and sit quietly in a bed of cabbage and look natural."

THE GLEE CLUB TRIP

GLEE CLUB EVENING PRAYER.

Two hours will I sleep
Upon my downy (?) (railroad) couch;
I hope I rise in the morning
Without my usual grouch.

Freudenberger's mother wanted to know if the reason why he did not bring his girl home with him was because he was broke.

Carden said, "No, Freudy is not broke, but badly Bent."

When Tommy started his Casto limericks at Charleston, Black turned white because he saw Green in the audience.

Henderson tried to turn on the light but rang for the bellboy instead. However, "Coo" Miller won the dog when he tried to put a letter in the peanut roaster.

Should Prof. C. S. Crow would C. M. Bray?

There was a young man named Pete
Who looked so exceedingly sweet;
He met a young dame
On a B. & O. train,
And he walked all over her feet.

Good Peter Lantz met a girl by chantz;
She came up to his side.
Poor Peter Lantz took just one glantz,
Turned up his toes and died.

If you found Harry H. Greene would that make C. L. Sharp?
If they let I. S. Cook where would H. G. Bord?
If Cecil Wood is worth twenty-five dollars what is D. D. Ashworth?
If taken to Eiesland would J. L. Shugrow?
If C. L. Walker would G. C. Trail?
In a fight with Prof. Atwood Prof. Illick?
If you should Yoke Coon and Hogg together would Aurora Leedom?
Kineade do as much as "Billiken?"
Would you go to E. F. Church to C. Edmund Neil?

HERE DESIRE TO EXPRESS MY THANKS TO ALL WHO IN ANY WAY CONTRIBUTED TO THE SUCCESS OF THIS ANNUAL. THE BOARD OF EDITORS HAS WORKED FAITHFULLY TO UPHOLD THE LITERARY STANDARD OF THE BOOK. THANKS ARE ESPECIALLY DUE TO TOM MOORE, R. M. BLANKENSOP, FRED KOELZ, C. S. WHITING, RUBY DEUSENBERRY, JENNIE COX, VIRGINIA JACOBS, VALERIE SHULTZ AND KATE MEREDITH WHO FURNISHED THE DRAWINGS.

MR. L. E. FRIEND AND THE ELECTRIC CITY ENGRAVING CO., HAVE GIVEN CLOSE ATTENTION TO THIS WORK. ESPECIAL THANKS ARE DUE TO THE BUSINESS MEN WHO HAVE BOUGHT ADVERTISING SPACE. THEY SHOULD BE PATRONIZED BY ALL STUDENTS.
